Returning from a break can be tough for children and parents! Re-establishing routines helps kids feel secure, manage expectations, and ease back into learning and daily responsibilities. In this parent training, we'll explore practical strategies to rebuild structure at home, set clear and consistent expectations, and use positive behavior supports to make the transition smoother. Learn how to create morning and evening routines that stick, motivate your child to follow directions, and reduce power struggles. Together, we'll set the stage for a calm, confident, and successful return to school and everyday life!
